COMMENCEMENT DAY.

The Thirty-Ninth Annual Conferring of Honors and Distribution of Premiums at the Arcadia College, Arcadia, Mo., June 20, 1916.

It needs no assurance that I enjoyed the proceedings in the College auditorium Tuesday afternoon last week. The hall was filled with patrons and friends of the institution, and the programme presented for their entertainment—a "Programme of Classics"—was such as to command their interest, and give fleeting wing to passing hours. There were twenty-one numbers of reading, song and music. 'Shakespeare's Heroines' were represented in Miranda, Portia, Desdemona, Juliet, Cordelia, Katherine, Ophelia and Lady Macbeth, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music. All these were rendered with rare skill and excellent taste, and with the numbers given by the Minims, were frequently and enthusiastically applauded. All through the proceedings were evidenced the careful training and thoroughness which are recognized as attaching to the Arcadia College. The entertainment closed with a short but eloquent address by Rev. Jno. F. Adrian, now of St. Louis, but, I take it, more "at home" in the Valley.

Miss Fern Matthews is Graduated from Arcadia College.
Last Wednesday, Miss Fern Lee Matthews, of the class of 1915, extended invitations to the Seniors of 1916 to attend an elaborate luncheon in their honor.
Miss Matthews deserves commendation for the exquisite taste and unique arrangement of the table and floral designs, carried out in college and class colors.
The "gifts" were made to order according to her original designing, and the guest hall was a bower of beauty.
She arranged the menu, and lent her skill in the Domestic Science department. Her gown for the occasion was one of her own making, as well as many of her summer frocks.
Miss Matthews was graduated from the Arcadia College with the highest honors in June, 1915. She returned to her Alma Mater last September to pursue the studies of the Post-Graduate Course, which she completed successfully.
Much of her time this year was spent in the study of expression, of which she has been a student for ten years, beginning at the College at the early age of nine years. She is a pupil of rare talent and emotional ability.
In the case of Lady Macbeth, her farewell number, she displayed professional ability.
Next October she will enter The Curry School of Expression, Boston, Mass., there to complete her cherished art.
